Preface

The idea of compiling a complete collection of Swaziland official publications can be traced back to the shared cataloguing project of the Library of Congress. When South Africa joined the undertaking as one of its first members, the State Library was requested by the Library of Congress to investigate the possibility of acting on behalf of Southern Africa as a whole. In order to report to Library of Congress on all newly published material in Southern Africa, the State Library was obliged to investigate the possibility of receiving these publications regularly from countries outside South Africa. As a first step in this direction, the former British protectorates were approached and it was found that it would be very difficult to establish permanent contacts in order to ensure even a mere 50% complete coverage in regard to their new publications.

In discussions held with the former personal Secretary of the Deputy Prime Minister's Office of the Kingdom of Swaziland, Mr Forsyth-Thompson, it became apparent that some arrangement could be made with respect to the current publications and that there was an urgent need to organise the library collection of the Swaziland National Archives housed in the government building.

In 1968 the State Library offered to organise and catalogue the library material for the Swaziland Government, provided that the State Library could take over duplicate material for its own collection and could photocopy unique material from the Swaziland Government collection. This offer was accepted and the State Library then arranged and catalogued the material in the Library of the Swaziland Archives and visited all Government Departments in Mbabane and Manzini in order to complete the collection for the Swaziland Government as far as possible. It was soon found that many publications were no longer available or that only a single copy existed. These facts coupled with the interest evident in other parts of the world in regard to the official publications of Swaziland, led to the idea of microfilming all available Swaziland official publications and to the compilation of a comprehensive bibliography of these publications. It was further decided to organise the bibliography in such a way that it could be used as a catalogue and guide to the microfiche collection. The tracing of the original material necessitated frequent visits to Swaziland and a visit overseas to London libraries dealing with Swaziland material. Correspondence was also maintained with major libraries overseas which might have official Swaziana.

In 1970 Mr V. W. Hiller was appointed as Swaziland Government Archivist. His enthusiasm and great knowledge of archival work was a great help to those responsible for compiling the bibliography. Close co-operation was established with Mr Hiller whose ability for tracing lost material was invaluable. The State Library wishes to express its gratitude and sincere appreciation to Mr Hiller and his library staff for their continuous support. Without their help it would have been very difficult, if not impossible, to finalise the project.

The State Library wishes also to thank the South African Library, Cape Town (Dr Lewin Robinson), the Foreign and Commonwealth Office Library, London (Miss E. C. Blayney), the British Museum Library, London (Mr K. B. Gardner), H. M. S. O., London (Mrs B. T. Jones), Swaziland Geological Survey, Mbabane (Dr D. R. de Vletter), Malkerns Research Station, Malkerns (Mr C. E. Brook), Africa Institute (Mrs S. O. M. Cloete), Transvaal Archives, Pretoria (Dr Esterhuyse), Dr G. Murdoch, London, and many others for their willing assistance and valuable co-operation.

The microfilming of the Swaziland material created wide interest, especially the colour microfiche of maps, which might lead to interesting changes in map collections. It should be mentioned that, as far as is known the Swaziland official publications are the first official publications to be completed in microfiche form and also numbered according to international standards with ISBN's and ISSN's.

The copyright clearance from the Swaziland Government and the H. M. S. O. for the microfiche edition is hereby gratefully acknowledged. Micropublishing permission has still to be obtained for a few items included in the bibliography.

Due to shortage of staff, no work on the Swaziland bibliography could be undertaken by the State Library between the years 1970 and 1973. Since 1973 the whole Swaziland project, viz. the collecting, microfilm preparation, checking, cataloguing and publishing of the bibliography has been most ably done by Miss M. Boshoff, to whom I offer sincere congratulations on the completion of this work.

The State Library wishes to express its sincere thanks to the Swaziland Government for the co-operative way in which the project has been handled.

H.J. Aschenborn

Notes on the Bibliography

MATERIAL INCLUDED:

1. British official publications dealing with Swaziland (1880-1968).
2. Official publications of the Transvaal Republic dealing with Swaziland (+ 1850-1902).
3. Swaziland Secretariat publications (1904-1968). Most of these publications were duplicated and carried a stencil number.
4. Publications of the High Commissioner for Basutoland, the Bechuanaland Protectorate and Swaziland containing material on Swaziland (1904-1968).
5. Publications of Government Departments of the Kingdom of Swaziland (1968-1972).
6. Reports compiled for the Swaziland Secretariat by various concerns. The small Secretariat lacked experts in various fields on its staff - hence this necessity.

COMPLETENESS:

Every possible attempt was made to include all official or semi-official publications of Swaziland, but no claim is made as to completeness.

ARRANGEMENT:

The first four sections of the bibliography are arranged in a sort of logical development-of-the-Territory order: historical background, concessions, constitutional development and parliament. After that the sections follow alphabetically according to the subject. Under each section the items are arranged in a chronological order.

CATALOGUING:

The ISBD cataloguing rules were used. Unfortunately, with material of this nature, the author statement is sometimes neither available, nor obtainable. In two instances the headings used, had to be motivated. Headings were not normalised. The name of a department at a specific time, is often the key to establish more or less a date of publication.

MICROFICHE EDITION:

A microfiche edition of these publications is included in the Bibliography. Each microfiche entry, together with the necessary ISBN or ISSN, immediately follows the original entry. Although it is not general practice, the entries for the microfiche edition were catalogued from the headings of the microfiche. This was done to simplify identification and ordering procedures. Orders could be placed per ISBN only.

It is suggested that the microfiche edition is arranged in ISBN and ISSN order and the Bibliography can then be used as a catalogue to this edition.

FUTURE SUPPLEMENTS:

Every possible attempt will be made to publish supplements.
